All-Hazards Air Operations and Unmanned Aircraft Management is a workshop targeted at the Command and General Staff on an All-Hazards (AH) Incident Management Teams (IMTs) and those using unmanned aircraft or would like to more about using unmanned aircraft on day to day emergency operations. Additional target groups are those Unit Leaders, especially those in Logistics who have considerable and critical interactions with the Air Operations Branch Director (AOBD) air staff or day to day aerial manager / emergency manager.

Aviation is one of the more complex components of AH response, and probably the least understood. However, the fact still remains that close coordination and communication among the Air Operations are critical to successful aviation mission execution.
